SUMMARY

This project aims to support teachers and tutors in dealing with developmental challenges associated with ASD students of post-secondary (initial) VET in the hospitality sector, as well as to assist them in acquiring expendable skills both within the education system and externally in the hospitality industry. It also aims to provide an innovative and hybrid educational methodology, based on the learner-centred approach, and practical tools for teachers in hospitality schools who work with ASD students as a precondition to enhance inclusive education and improve the training offer.

OBJECTIVES

- Provide teachers and trainers with appropriate competences and effective resources and educational methodologies to apply with students with ASD;
- Increase the professionalism and employability of students, especially those with ASD, in Europe's hospitality sector;
- Offer equal opportunities for people with ASD through training them in labour skills for potential employment inclusion;
- Support ASD students in acquiring new skills and developing new sectoral competencies in line with the labour market requirements.
